Japan's Government Pension Investment Fund Selects MPI
- World's largest public pension fund using Stylus Pro

Tokyo, Japan and Summit, NJ, USA June 08, 2010 - Markov Processes International \(MPI\), a leading investment research and technology provider, today announced that Japan's Government Pension Investment Fund (GPIF) will be utilizing MPI's flagship product, Stylus Pro. GPIF is the world's largest public pension fund and has assets under management of $1.4 trillion. The selection of MPI followed a rigorous review process and a competitive, public request for providers.

"Our partnership with GPIF demonstrates the importance that institutional investors place on the quality of their manager selection and surveillance process. MPI's unique and proprietary quantitative methods are quicker to detect style drift and more accurate in identifying alpha, risk exposure and key elements of return behaviour. Given the market upheaval of the past few years, sophisticated investors recognize the need to employ the most advanced, proven quantitative techniques for investment selection, risk management and monitoring. MPI looks forward to our role in helping investors safeguard their assets for their clients' futures," said Michael Markov, CEO of MPI.
